BALT LAKE AND OGDEN LYING LOW AND DOING NOTHING.

It has been a quiet week locally in baseball circles, but this cannot be said of Spokane and Boise City, where the fans and magnates have been extremely busy shaping things for next season Manager Binford of Ogden is lying back awaiting the decision of the magnates with regard to a franchise for the Junction City for next season. In Butte it has also been quiet, as the miners already have a team signed for next year and therefore that town is on a better footing than any other.

The question of whether Ogden or Boise will secure a franchise for next year has not been definitely settled yet.

According to the reports from the Idaho town one would believe that Boise had the franchise already are delived. the franchise already signed and delivered, but this is not true. Press reports are to the effect that a new club has are to the effect that a new club has been organized with $10,000 capital, and that John J. McCloskey is to manage the team for Boise the coming season. This, however, is a little premature, but it is a fact that those behind the Boise club are trying hard to bring this state of affairs about.

McCloskey left for Boise last night and said he expected to have the matter settled definitely one way or another before the week rolls by. As soon as the question of Boise or Ogden for the fourth town is settled then there is bound to be a boom in baseball circles all around that will be meat for the fans until the season opens.

There will probably be nothing much doing locally until President Newhouse returns home. If McCloskey leaves Salt Lake, the first work to be done will be are a new manager, and this wi obably be settled quickly as there i enty of available material at han The question of players for Salt Lake for next year is not a very serious one, as it already has a strong team with the exception of second baseman, the place left vacant by Herrmann's de-cision in the Donahue case. WILLIE FANNE.

San Francisco, Feb. 12.—All unheraided and unsung. Dave Sullivan and Kid Broad clashed for a goodly portion of one hot round at an early hour yesterday morning, with no decision, yet, for all that, according to the tale related by the elect few. It was fast and sizzling while it lasted.

Kid Broad dropped in on the battle-ground from an automobile tour out in the vicinity of the Cliff house. He was feeling for all the world like a champion. In this frame of mind he met his old Broadway rival. Dave Sullivan. They shook hands as cordially as all gentlemanly fighters must do if they would conform to the code. As the moments sped on the talk turned to ring records and knockouts. Kid Broad thought that he had put more men to the mat for keeps than Dave ever had. Dave begged to differ with him. The kid's record was short and of no consequence compared to his.

"You ain't no fighter," said Kid Broad. "I've got it on you a mile," retorted Dave.

History does not record who landed first. All the early birds saw the clash, Kid Broad hitting the floor with a thump. He was up in a moment coming on after his most approved style. Dave met the runsh with another wallop, the kid once more going down. That was about all there was to it.
